

DIACONAL SUNDAY

February 22, 2015

Celebrating witness expressed through service (diakonia) and leadership offered by the ELCIC's diaconal ministers.

Jesus came to Galilee, proclaiming the good news of God.—Mark 1:14

Serving our neighbours is an essential element of spiritual renewal, of life in the Church and of sharing the gospel. Internationally, the Greek word diakonia is used to discuss and encourage mission expressed through compassionate justice, service, advocacy and development. Along with Theology and Dialogue and Holistic Mission and Relationships, Diakonia is one of the priorities of Lutheran World Federation. Today we pray that the Holy Spirit will inspire and renew witness expressed through service.

Diaconal Ministers are called by the ELCIC for a public Ministry of Word and Service. This includes skilled and faithful service to marginalized persons, and a deep commitment to equipping all the baptized for spirited discipleship. Today, we give thanks for the 31 people on the ELCIC Roster of Diaconal Ministers, and for the service and leadership they offer.

The image of Jesus washing the disciples' feet (John 13) is an example of how Jesus modelled a life of service. His command to "love your enemies" calls us to show active concern for all who are in need. Today we live out our call to be a church
In Mission for Others.

Prayer for Diaconal Sunday

We remember today, Lord, your call to live out our lives as the baptized. We remember that in the waters of baptism you renew us, cleanse us and bring us to new life. Help us to live as Noah lived, listening and obeying your will, carrying out your calling, and following through on the work you have for us. We remember the covenant you made with Noah and we rededicate ourselves to fulfilling your covenant, to trusting you, to following you and to practicing the spiritual gifts you have given each of us for the building up of our communities. Help us Lord to use our gifts to serve one another. Help to give of ourselves in ways that build up our brothers and sisters, most especially those in need, the lonely, the poor, the isolated, the marginalized and the oppressed. Thank you for your strength to live out our individual calling. Today, we pray especially for those who live out their Call as Diaconal Ministers of the ELCIC, Called to the ministry of Word and Service.

—Prayer by Keirra Maher

DIACONAL SUNDAY

February 22, 2015

Celebrating witness expressed through service (diakonia) and leadership offered by the ELCIC's diaconal ministers.

Jesus came to Galilee, proclaiming the good news of God.—Mark 1:14

Serving our neighbours is an essential element of spiritual renewal, of life in the Church and of sharing the gospel. Internationally, the Greek word diakonia is used to discuss and encourage mission expressed through compassionate justice, service, advocacy and development. Along with Theology and Dialogue and Holistic Mission and Relationships, Diakonia is one of the priorities of Lutheran World Federation. Today we pray that the Holy Spirit will inspire and renew witness expressed through service.

Diaconal Ministers are called by the ELCIC for a public Ministry of Word and Service. This includes skilled and faithful service to marginalized persons, and a deep commitment to equipping all the baptized for spirited discipleship. Today, we give thanks for the 31 people on the ELCIC Roster of Diaconal Ministers, and for the service and leadership they offer.

The image of Jesus washing the disciples' feet (John 13) is an example of how Jesus modelled a life of service. His command to "love your enemies" calls us to show active concern for all who are in need. Today we live out our call to be a church
In Mission for Others.

Prayer for Diaconal Sunday

We remember today, Lord, your call to live out our lives as the baptized. We remember that in the waters of baptism you renew us, cleanse us and bring us to new life. Help us to live as Noah lived, listening and obeying your will, carrying out your calling, and following through on the work you have for us. We remember the covenant you made with Noah and we rededicate ourselves to fulfilling your covenant, to trusting you, to following you and to practicing the spiritual gifts you have given each of us for the building up of our communities. Help us Lord to use our gifts to serve one another. Help to give of ourselves in ways that build up our brothers and sisters, most especially those in need, the lonely, the poor, the isolated, the marginalized and the oppressed. Thank you for your strength to live out our individual calling. Today, we pray especially for those who live out their Call as Diaconal Ministers of the ELCIC, Called to the ministry of Word and Service.

—Prayer by Keirra Maher