1. NATIONAL OFFICE

ELCIC Software Licensing Program (SLP) - Available to all ELCIC synods and congregations, the SLP provides congregations with the opportunity to purchase software at a reduced price under a license for charities and not-for-profits. Many Microsoft products are available under this program, as well as some Adobe and Corel products too. As all software is registered to the ELCIC and not to the individual user, the software must be used explicitly for business and is not for personal use. For further information, please contact Rick Natividad (email: rnatividad@elcic.ca), IT Coordinator, at the National Office.

2. ELCIC's GLOBAL HUNGER AND DEVELOPMENT APPEAL (GHDA)

GHDA Issues Appeal to Assist with Relief Efforts Following Severe Flooding in Mozambique: The Evangelical Lutheran Church in Canada's Global Hunger and Development Appeal (GHDA) is accepting donations to support relief efforts in Mozambique after weeks of heavy rains in the central Zambezi River valley caused severe flooding to the area. Further flooding is feared with the arrival of Cyclone Favio, a powerful tropical cyclone with reported winds of up to 230 km per hour, which hit southern Mozambique on Thursday morning.

Donations can be made to the GHDA - Mozambique Appeal as follows:

- By clicking on the "Donate Now" link on this page
- By mail: GHDA, 302-393 Portage Avenue, Winnipeg, MB R3B 3H6 (please indicate "GHDA - Mozambique Appeal" in the memo portion of the cheque)
- Through all ELCIC Congregations

Designated funds received through GHDA will be sent on to Canadian Lutheran World Relief (CLWR) which is already engaged in relief efforts in the region, including the evacuation of low-lying areas and the distribution of immediate shelter materials, blankets, clothing, food and cooking utensils.

5. STEWARDSHIP

Are you interested in stewardship? Do you want to promote good stewardship and good stewardship practice? Are you interested in learning about how we can use the gifts that God gives us for the mission to which God calls us? The ELCIC has two new resources for people working with stewardship and working to promote stewardship in our Churches.

- Receive the stewardship newsletter. This e-news letter will be sent out every two months and it will include stewardship ideas, resources, reflections and short articles about stewardship which can be added to your own congregations newsletter.
- Join the conversation through the ELCIC Stewardship Listserv. This listserv is intended to be a means through which people can be involved in our national conversation about stewardship and through this conversation raise questions, hear answers and share good resources or approaches that they discover.

To subscribe to either of these resources contact Ryan Andersen, Assistant to the Bishop for Stewardship in Public Life, at randersen@elcic.ca or 1-888-786-6707 ext. 153

6. WORSHIP

Evangelical Lutheran Worship - The Road Where Faith is Found: Borrowed from the poetry of United Church of Canada pastor Sylvia Dunstan (1955-1993), author of Bless Now, O God, the Journey (Evangelical Lutheran Worship hymn 326), The Road Where Faith Is Found is the title of a terrific series of ELCIC pastoral essays. The authors include our national bishop and five synodical bishops together with a number of other ordained people serving in a variety of ministry settings. The essays are designed to support the reception and exploration of Evangelical Lutheran Worship in the context of a church In Mission for Others. Each essay title is drawn from a hymn in our new worship-book. Essays are being posted on the Worship Matters (WM) page at Lift Up Your Hearts - <http://www.worship.ca>. Newly added essays include submissions from Rev. Tanya Ramer & Mark Harris, Rev. Susan Johnson and Bishop Cindy Halmarson.

Wade In The Water – Take Action On World Water Day, March 22 2007: Once again, KAIROS, Council of Canadians, and CUPE are uniting in an effort to advocate for water justice on World Water Day, March 22. We're offering a range of activity ideas and want to encourage as much cooperation as possible among KAIROS and church groups, Council chapters, CUPE locals, and other community groups. Last year, we collaborated on more than 60 events and we hope to do even more this year, and draw in even more people from throughout our communities. KAIROS will focus on two main advocacy points: regulating Canadian corporate activity that damages water supply through overuse, diversion, and pollution; and getting Canada to acknowledge that access to clean water and sanitation is a human right. For a full range of action options, including a Walk for Water, worship ideas, and plans for a water-themed book club event, visit <http://www.kairoscanada.org/e/action/wwd07/index.asp>

Got Hunger? Canadian Lutheran World Relief (CLWR) launches hunger awareness project

: In a world where millions struggle with the very serious problem of chronic hunger and starvation, North Americans often have trouble trying to simply understand what real hunger would be like. Real hunger is something most of us have never experienced so we resort to holding mock famines and hunger challenges on a weekend to come to understand it. HUNGER (inter)MISSION, with its tongue-in-cheek tone, tries to show the near absurdity of this situation—millions suffering chronically from something that we ourselves have never experienced, much less understand. In a world full of cool products that we can buy to “save Africa,” in a time of cool celebrity fundraising concerts, HUNGER (inter)MISSION plays hunger as something North Americans are missing out on—but ultimately ends up delivering the true dirt on hunger. Find everything you need for HUNGER (inter)MISSION, including registration information, at <http://www.clwr.org>.

Taize Montreal: Leaving Discouragement Behind, Finding New Hope: A weekend of prayer and reflection is planned for young adults between the ages of 17-35 in Montreal from April 27,29, 2007. Find out more about this event that will bring together young adults from across the country and the United States by clicking on the following link: <http://www.taizemontreal2007.ca>

13. OUR STORIES

Neither Snow, nor Sleet, or Inclement Weather...

...will stop the mail from getting through, but what do you do when any of the above, and other unforeseen circumstances, prevents you from holding a worship service or gathering? Living in rural Manitoba, I've seen my fair share of last minute cancellations and even in the 'big city' (of Winnipeg), just last week I attended a church service where the congregation had to be relocated to another facility at the last moment due to an unexpected watermain break which caused the building's water supply to be shut off. When these things happen, we roll with the punches, but how do we let our congregation members know about these last minute changes so they don't head out on the icy roads or come to the wrong location?

The following are a few examples of methods I've experienced to communication sudden, unexpected changes...

- A message on the voice mail to update on the situation with the hopes that those affected might call first before heading out.
- A sign on the door of the congregation or at the entrance to the parking lot (advising those you weren't able to reach)
- A phone tree system where we invoke the "each one, reach one" methodology where I call five people, and those five people call five people... etc.
- Advise local radio and TV news stations of the change. If there's room in the program, most are happy to oblige (this is also a great way to get the word out about a reschedule date, if there is one and promote the event a little more... but I'm getting ahead of myself, I'll leave that communication topic for another issue of E-Communique).
- Putting an announcement on the homepage of your website. Remember the article from the last issue of E-Communique? (see: <http://www.elcic.ca/communique/2007/07Jan.pdf> for a reminder)... does your congregation have a website? If so, do your members know the website address? Do they know / expect they can get information quickly by checking online?
- Sending out an email to your congregation members. Would your members expect this and know to check their email before heading out?

What other actions has your congregation employed to spread the word? I'm curious... send me an email (tgallop@elcic.ca) and let me know. In a future article, I'll share updates from your responses.

Some of the resources mentioned in E-Communique are available from the ELCIC National Office. If you prefer to order those materials in print, phone 1.888.786.6707 ext 177 or 204.984.9177; email orders@elcic.ca; or fax your order to 204.984.9185 "Attn Orders Desk". Be sure to fully describe the item and tell us the quantity you need. You will be invoiced when the order is filled.
